

The Science Behind Energy Psychology

Quick Facts

Over 200 review articles, research studies and meta-analyses have been published in professional, peer-reviewed journals.

This includes:

- 65 randomized controlled trials
- 50 clinical outcome studies
(All except one of the above 115 studies document EP effectiveness)
- 5 meta-analyses
- 4 systematic reviews of EP modalities
- 9 comparative reviews (EP & other therapies)
(All reviews document EP effectiveness)

The evidence base for energy psychology continues to grow – in quantity and quality (methodological rigor)

- 2000 – 2012 18 randomized controlled trials
- As of 2016 45 randomized controlled trials
- 2014 – 2018 5 meta-analyses document efficacy for EP methods
- 2017 – 2018 2 randomized control trials using biologic or genetic outcome measures document positive outcomes for EP methods

- 2019 – 2020 First fMRI study documents neural changes after EFT
2 studies show significant drops in cortisol with EFT
Research documents physiological & immunological changes and gene expression with EP methods
Randomized control trials now total 65

And multiple research studies document the efficacy of EP methods for:

- Pain
- Anxiety
- Depression
- Food cravings
- Trauma and PTSD
- Peak athletic performance.

Continuing Validation for EP Methods

- In 2016, TFT (Thought Field Therapy) was validated by NREPP (the National Repertory of Evidence Based Practices and Procedures, a division of SAMHSA in the U.S.) as an evidence-based treatment. Unfortunately, NREPP has been defunded and no longer exists. However, you can read more about it on our blog.
- ACEP and AAMET (EFT International) made a joint submission of the research evidence for EFT and TFT as treatments for PTSD to NICE (the National Institute for Health and Care Excellence) in the UK. NICE has created a specific category for EFT, TFT and Somatic Experiencing called “CSACTS” (Combined Somatic and Cognitive Therapies), and acknowledged that they are “worthy of further research.”
- In 2017, the U.S. Veterans Administration added EFT to List 2, approving it as a “generally safe therapy.” Next is getting added to List 1, which is a list of approved treatments.
- There are over 400 identified forms of psychotherapy, many of which have little or no research to validate them. Energy psychology is both evidence-based and in the top 10% in terms of published research for psychotherapy modalities.
